

A. JAMES DONALD III

HOME 508-881-6248 • MOBILE 617-504-0773 • EMAIL JAMES@JOHNRUBIN.COM

RECENT WORK EXPERIENCE AND ACCOLADES

JOHN RUBIN PRODUCTIONS, INC.

July 2004 to May 2012

SELECTED PRODUCER & DIRECTOR CREDITS

Omens of Apocalypse, National Geographic Channel (TV)

- Aired March 22, 2012

The New Biology; Pacific Biosciences of California, Inc. (Web)

- WINNER- CINE Master Series Award, 2012
- WINNER- Life Sciences Film Festival, 2011
- WINNER- Bronze Telly Award, 2011

Lost Mummies of Papua New Guinea; National Geographic Channel (TV)

- WINNER- Silver World Medal, New York Festivals, 2012
- WINNER- EMMY- Best Cinematography, 2011

McGovern Institute for Brain Research at MIT; video series (Web)

- WINNER- CINE Golden Eagle, 2010
- WINNER- Silver Telly Award, 2010

Climbing Redwood Giants; National Geographic Channel (TV)

- WINNER- Forest Hero Award, International Forest Film Festival, 2011
- WINNER- Gold World Medal, New York Festivals, 2010
- WINNER- CINE Golden Eagle, 2010
- NOMINATED- EMMY- Best Cinematography, 2010
- NOMINATED- EMMY- Outstanding Nature Programming, 2010

Is That Skunk?; "Nature", PBS (TV)

- First-ever HD shot showing a slow-motion close up of a skunk spraying, featured on New York Times website on January 30, 2012

American Eagle; "Nature", PBS (TV)

- WINNER- Merit Award for Animal Behavior, International Wildlife Film Festival, 2009

Raptor Force; "Nature", PBS (TV)

- WINNER- CINE Golden Eagle, 2007
- WINNER- Silver World Medal, New York Festivals, 2008
- WINNER- Best Achievement in Sound, Jackson Hole Wildlife Film Festival, 2007

Animals Behaving Worse; "Nature", PBS (TV)

- WINNER- CINE Golden Eagle, 2006

EDUCATION

BOWDOIN COLLEGE

August 1991 to May 1995

- Graduated magna cum laude with a combined major in Environmental Studies and Economics, with an added concentration in Film Studies.

- References Available Upon Request -